1. Chair's report: Karen Metheny

There has been an effort to planning CNEHA's 50th anniversary. We are still looking for images from previous conferences; anyone having images, please send to Karen through her email on website.

The CNEHA Board is still working on efforts to maintain and increase membership, in particular reaching out to students, communities and the public.

The Journal office is undergoing transition from Susan McGuire at Buffalo State to Maria O'Donovan, Binghamton State University, after the publication of the next two volumes.

Overall membership is increasing by $5 to cover CHENA operating costs, particularly the publishing and mailing of the Council's journal.

2. Treasurer's report: Sara Mascia (US) and Joe Last (Canada)

There is $20,579.00 in the US checking account for 2016. To date income is $14,956.00 and expenditures are $13,574.00 leaving $1,382.00 in budget. There is $10,100.00 in the CD/reserve fund. This will be used to help public two journals by the end of 2016.

Sara noted that insurance, postage and publication costs continue to rise prompting an increase in membership fees.

Joe reported the Canadian account started with $6,897.98. In 2016, the account has received $1730 in membership. There was no bank interest and the addition of $226 in book royalties for at total revenue of $ 8,853.98, which will help with the publication of one journal this year.

Motion to accept the Treasurers' reports made by Lynn Evans

Seconded by Richard Schaefer

3 Membership reports:
a. US: Ed Morin

Membership totals are slightly better than last year although membership is still down from the 2014 level of 343. Currently membership totals 269. Joint membership did increase to 43 from 40 but Fellows are down from 25 to 22 and Retired are down to 13 from 16. This year only emails were sent out for renewals and it is unclear if the drop is related to this. In 2017, there will be email reminders as well as two paper mailings.

CNEHA is trying to boost student membership because the organization depends on new blood.

Dues will go up $5 for Individual to $40; Student to $25; Joint to $55; Fellow to $35; all will increase except the "Life" category.

b. Canadian: Joe Last

This year total Canadian membership consists of 82 individuals, including eight Student, 11 Business and 1 Retired, which is, overall, down three from last year. Joe did a membership drive targeting the universities but that did not quite pay off.

c. Institutional/Business: Meta Janowitz

Institutional/Business memberships are up from 26 Institutional and 7 Business from 25 and 2 respectively. Meta requested that any Institution/Business who wanted to join should contact her via email.

Motion to accept the membership reports was made by Richard Schaefer

Seconded by Stephane Noel

All approved.

4. Publications reports:

a. Newsletter: David Starbuck

David requested that anyone that has copy should send to him immediately. A third newsletter will be going out this weekend. David has had some feedback on the electronic newsletter. People love color photos and the editions come out very quickly. There are no real length constraints; and the newsletter can include a number of photos. There has been a savings by having electronic newsletter.

b. Journal: Sue Maguire

Sue is transitioning to other projects at Buffalo State. The editorial office will move to SUNY Binghamton. Maria O'Donovan will be taking over as journal editor. The transition should be completed this fall.

Two journal volumes will be coming out. The subject of the 2015 journal will be the War of 1812. The 2016 journal will be an open volume full of material cultural articles, such as expanded information on Turlington bottles, a bead articles by Karlis Karlins, and a window lead article by Tim Riordan.

In the Digital Commons, there have been 3000 download per month, indicating that people are finding the research/data and the articles are very popular. The journal will stay on Buffalo State Digital Commons for the foreseeable future. Buffalo State and Binghamton will work on DOIs /permanent markers if a transition is determined to be necessary.

Sue thanked the membership for being able to do journal and for their patience and assistance; it was a great experience.

Karen thanked Sue for her efforts, noting the great volumes that have been produced, especially the Foodways volume

c. Web page: Silas Hurry

Silas did not have much to report. Thanks to Kristi Morgenstern, the web continues to perform well. Kristi still manages to keep up it and running and its holding its own in its 19th year.

d. Posters: Ed Morin

. There are no updates. Previous posters are still for sale. There are no new maps planned for the immediate future.

e. Facebook: Christa Beranek

The Council has a Facebook page and a Twitter account; both will carry forward. These will be used as an outreach mechanism for updates and announcements. If anyone has any material, news about projects, local events, please either post directly or send to Laura, Travis (for Twitter) or Christa.

5. Programs and Meetings:

a. 2016 Ottawa—Joe Last

Joe thanked the membership for its attendance. The City has provided a great service. Joe also thanked Martin on the City Hall staff for his assistance.

There are 142 attendees: 128 advance registrations; 14 registered at door. There are 96 individual or joint members, 24 students, 11 spouse, and 11 nonmembers.

Everyone seems to enjoy the Lord Elgin. Sixty-eight attendees are staying at the hotel for a total of 150 room nights. There are 10 papers sessions with 56 papers and 8 posters in the poster session. There will be 73 people at the Banquet; about half of total attendees.

The workshop was well attended with twenty attendees. Thirteen attendees went on the museum tour and 25 went on the Parliament Hill tour. Ten people are signed up for the Diefenbunker Tour.

Twenty-two umbrellas have been sold; there are still some left - buy one before you go.

b. Reports on future venues (Portsmouth 2017, Halifax 2018)

Ellen Marlatt is the conference organizer for the Portsmouth Conference. Ellen and her team are working on tours and workshops in and around Strawberry Banke and its collections and in southern Maine

In 2018, the Council is going to Halifax. The hotel will be the Lord Nelson. They are working on developing workshops and tours.

It is likely that 2019 will be in Lake George – via David Starbuck Future locations potentially include CT, Plimouth Plantation (after the Boston SHA) and St Mary's City in 2021?

Other Old Business

Bud Wilson expects to be around a long time to haunt the Council.

New Business

1. Nominations and Elections Committee:

Five people were nominated for five positions: Henry Cary, Amanda Crompton, Ed Morin, Travis Parno, and Patricia Samford. Survey Monkey was used to tally votes and paper ballots were mailed to those with no email. The votes were anonymous and electronic voting was closed on September 25, 2016. A total of 89 electronic votes and two paper ballots were received. All nominees received votes and were elected to the Board.

To accommodate the use of survey monkey without paying for survey results, three surveys with the same ballot were sent out. The majority of the voting – about 80% - was done the first day voting was open across all three surveys. The rest of the votes were cast within the next four days. No electronic voting was done after the fifth day across all three surveys.

2. Election of officer Karen (Secretary and vice chair)

Nancy Brighton will replace Ellen Blaubergs as Secretary; Ed Morin was re-elected to serve as Vice Chair.
